

JPL Stories

Io, the Ultimate Destination for a Volcano Lover

Thursday,

March 22,

2001

4 PM to 5 PM

JPL Library,

Customer

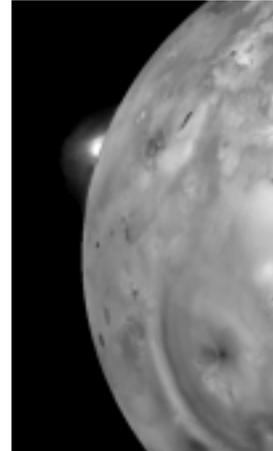

Service Area,

west end of

Building 111

Room 104

*Presented by Rosaly Lopes,
Research Scientist and member of the Galileo NIMS Team (with a special appearance by the Galileo Not Ready for Real Time Players)*

- Find out about the most volcanically active body in the Solar System — Io, the Jurassic Park for a volcanologist.
- Hear about Galileo's long, slow road to Io — what a difference a second chance can make, and a third, and a fourth...
- What do frustrated scientists do when they lose their precious data? They sing!

All employees are welcome.